Novelty Goods for Fall-Winter Wear

All-Over Wool Velours de Laine Is in China or Heather Mixture.

Now that summer is well under way, materials for fall and winter are being offered, says a fashion authority in the New York Tribune. In Paris visiting buyers of novelty wool and silk fabrics are buying freely of the new novelties.

Two novelties which have found high favor are tchinnellaine and tchinnellaine pekine, both of which are of the same weave—an all-over wool velours de laine of the softest quality woven in a chine or heather mixture, sometimes in cashmere colorings or in two or three tones of one color. These will be principally used for handsome topcoats. They will be used to some extent in the making of suits, although they are rather heavy for this purpose.

Another novelty in a velours de laine effect is mosaicagnella—a sort of cut or pressed pattern representing a mosaic. This comes in a beautiful series of colorings in solid tones. Still another marked novelty is les paves agnella marbres. The agnella pattern in relief shows a sheared fur-like surface in mixed and two-tone colorings, giving the effect of marble.

Grainarallaine is the name of a pompon surface fabric. The pompons are arranged in a striped pattern on a serge background. Crepella confetti imprimi, another pompon weave, has a background of wool crepella. In the pattern the pompons are set very close together. For instance, on a background of red, green and yellow crepella, pompons in the same colorings which measure about three-eighths of an inch in diameter are woven at intervals of less than an inch, thus leaving one-quarter of an inch space between them at the narrowest point.

Still other novelties are zibikasha du laos, a kasha zibelline with effective ray stripes; panvellaine kashmere, an extremely odd fabric, with a mosaic-like pattern in cashmere colorings on a dark background, and effillette, a material which looks like sheep's wool, a perfect imitation of this fleece.

Charming Costume for General Summer Wear

A beautifully soft color combination is illustrated in this charming summer costume. The skirt is a variation of pastel pinks and grays, while the blouse is of gray crepe de chine, trimmed with pink soutache braid.

Summer Fashion Notes of Interest to Women

A popular type for evening dresses is the chiffon model made over a silk slip. Colors are coral, tomato, jade or white, and silver ribbon makes the grille.

Sports hats, which are new and attractive, are covered with colorful embroidery done in chenille. These are soft and may easily be tucked into one's traveling bag.

The smart cockades made entirely of ribbon which are used to trim hats and frocks may be bought already put together in different sizes and color combinations.

The woman who likes to cross-stitch will be interested in curtains of white dimity stamped for cross-stitching in dark blue. The effect is very pretty.

Painted silk frocks are a novelty this season. The paint is applied rather thickly to give a raised surface. The frocks are cut on the straight chemise pattern and only loosely caught about the waist with a sash of the plain silk.

It is quite the proper thing these days to match your gloves and stockings, particularly if you are wearing a strictly tailored suit.

Monograms have become so popular they are now appearing on coats. A blue serge suit is bound with red and belted and monogrammed in the same color. The monogram appears on the sleeve.

Unlike Other Schools. The school of experience has no commencement; it is a perpetual course.—Boston Transcript

To Remove Corks. Corks placed in bottles containing gum, glue, shoe polish and other sticky substances are often difficult to remove. They will not stick if a little glycerine is rubbed over them.

Watch Big Things. Too many people devote so much attention to little things that they have no time for the big things of life. They lack a proper estimate of true values, a deficiency that they can overcome if they will honestly endeavor to do so.

Severest Punishment. The severest punishment suffered by a sensitive mind, for injury inflicted upon another, is the consciousness of having done it.—Hosea Ballou.

A Monster Egg. A perfect specimen of an egg of the aepyornis was recently found in Madagascar. So far only twelve are known. The eggs are often 9 by 13 inches, double the size of ostrich eggs. The extinct aepyornis resembled the ostrich.

New White Metal. Following the discovery of a non-tarnishable silver comes the news of a white metal which resists both tarnish and corrosion, and has a remarkably deep and brilliant luster when polished.

Wedding Lyric. From a song catalogue—"Speed, bonnie boot, like a bird on the wing." This is listed as a Scotch roving song, but it sounds to us more like what a wedding guest might sing as he hurled his missile after the happy pair."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Growing Sponges From Seed. So important has the sponge become in every-day life that it is now grown from "seed" like ordinary land plants. Before 1914 the finest sponges came from the Mediterranean.

Must Jump In. The fact is that to do anything in this world worth doing, we must not stand back shivering and thinking of the cold and danger, but jump and scramble through as well as we can.—Sydney Smith.

Snaffle Bit Painful. A four-rein bit is known as a snaffle bit and is used ordinarily only on the snaffle. If a quick stop is desired, the curb can be pulled, thus bringing the horse up immediately, as it is more painful and powerful.

Reason for Speed. Courtship was a more complicated process in the old days, but there was no taxicab meter to urge making it snappy.

Advertising an Old Business. The advertising card is of entirely modern origin, although the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans knew something about advertising.

Speaking of Fruit. Sometimes a fellow makes a date with a peach he believes will turn out to be the apple of his eye, but eventually she proves a lemon that no sensible chap could care a fig for.

What Jud Said. Jud Tunkins says a man who is always talking about how the adjacent farm should be run seldom saves up money enough to buy it.

A Seedy Complexion. A lad, two and one-half, while out walking, saw a small boy with freckles all over his face. He said, "Oh, mother, look at the boy with tomato seeds on his face."

Answer to Correspondent. A bucket-shop, Euphemia, is a sort of modern cooperage to which a man takes a barrel and brings back the bung-hole.—Boston Transcript.

Fool Question. T. B. asks: "Is a man always contented with his lot if he has a dream house on it?" No, there also must be a garage.

The Wise Man. It sometimes happens that the world thinks a man is wise because he doesn't take the trouble to explain his mistakes.

Flower Decorations on a Liner. Ten thousand flowering plants and ferns of various kinds are used every year for the decoration of the public rooms on one of the big transatlantic liners.

Water for Jordan Plain. Canals to irrigate the Plain of Jordan, round the Dead sea, are proposed; wide areas covered with fertile soil could then be cultivated.

Arabs First to Tame Horses. The Arab horse is said to be the oldest existing domestic breed. Its records can be traced back for 13,000 years.

Old Dugouts Found. Ingeniously designed prehistoric dugouts used by cavemen in escaping from or resisting the attack of their enemies have been found in France.

A. W. LLOYD VISITS CITY

A. W. Lloyd, for twenty-three years grand chancellor of Knights of Pythias of Missouri, spent much time in the city enroute from New York, where he had attended the Supreme Lodge session of K. of P.'s. Mr. Lloyd is an enthusiastic worker for the K. of P.'s and has done a world of good. His inspirations have been caught up by the grand lodges all over the country and have been of much assistance in making the supreme grand lodge the greatest of its kind. The local work in St. Louis under Grand Chancellor Lloyd has done well, some years ago they purchased a building on Pine St., which is now self supporting and is paying good percentage on investment. Mr. Lloyd was prominent in the city during the Elks' meeting and leaving Sunday evening, he was loud in his praise for the hospitalities extended him by Chicagoans.

NOTED COLORED RECTOR WAS PAGE WITH SLEMP

New York.—The Rev. George T. Bragg, Jr., rector of the leading colored Episcopal Church in Baltimore, was page in the Virginia legislature with C. Bascom Slemph, former congressman from Virginia and recently appointed secretary to the President. "The elder Slemph was at that time a member of the house," writes Dr. Bragg in the New York Age, "and he was a magnificent man. Bascom was as fine a boy as one would desire to meet. It does not follow that a white Republican who does not agree with us in everything is necessarily a Negro hater. Let us be fair and give Mr. Slemph a trial. He may prove a better friend than expected."

SHORT CUTS

Three automobile loads of white men rode through a colored settlement at Savannah, Ga., firing into the houses, killing one man, seriously wounding another and slightly injuring several.

Having confessed participation in whipping Mrs. Myrtle Goolsby in July, 1922, Arthur Finley, constable at Broken Arrow, Okla., was sentenced to the penitentiary by the Tulsa court.

Colonel David P. Barrows, former president of the University of California, sailed for Africa to live a year among the Negroid Sengalese and Sudanese to study their characteristics and the governmental administration devised for their control. Revival of Mohammedanism among the 80,000,000 natives of Sudan is given as a cause for their unrest.

Warsaw papers consider favorably the proposition of the French government to colonize the overflow of Polish population in Africa. The determination of the United States to restrict immigration into this country from foreign countries until its own labor is fully included and employed in its industries causes the Poles to seek other outlets.

Ras Tafari, descendant of the indomitable Menelek and present King of Abyssinia, is a working monarch. Executing a recent road building program in that country, each man carries a stone from the Kubbana River to the highway under construction. Ras Tafari leads the procession of his subjects, carrying the heaviest burden. W. S. George, of East Palestine, Ohio, has contributed $50,000 to erect the first modern hospital in the kingdom.

When Secretary of the Treasury Mellon learned that his messenger, Richard Green, was critically ill, he called in the best specialists in Washington to attend him. Mr. Green entered the service of the Government under President Grant. He is six feet in height and possesses rare courtesy and dignified bearing, which makes him a general favorite in the Department. He has been on the door of the highest officials of the Treasury for thirty years.

Arthur G. Froe, of West Virginia, Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia, called upon President Coolidge last week and enlisted his support for an appropriation of $500,000 to build a suitable office for housing the priceless documents under Mr. Froe's charge.

$100,000.00 OFFICE BUILDING OPENS IN CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Cal.—The first office building for the professional and business men, colored, of this city was opened here last Saturday, Sept. 1. The building, in the heart of the business section, was built at a cost of $100,000. The building contains twenty-six offices, single and in suites, with beautiful appointments, and is said to rank with the most modern office buildings in Los Angeles.

LEVIATHAN WILL CARRY A TABLET FOR HARDING

New York.—The steamship Leviathan, the world's greatest liner, will have a tablet in memory of the late President Harding, it was announced here. The tablet will record the fact that the great vessel was reconducted during the Harding administration.
